THE YEAR 2025 IN NUMBERS

FILM FUND SUPPORTED

REVIEW OF 2025

The figures for the Dutch film and audiovisual industry in 2025 show a stable cinema market alongside continued growth in the broader audiovisual sector. While cinema attendance slightly decreased, Video On Demand continued to expand, albeit at a more moderate pace than in previous years. Dutch film production remained at a high level, supported by increased investment from the Netherlands Film Fund, while domestic films continued to maintain a presence in cinemas despite a decline in market share.

Total cinema attendance decreased to 28.3 million admissions, while the market share of Dutch films decreased from 17.6% to 13.9%. A total of 542 films were released in Dutch cinemas, including 84 Dutch feature films and documentaries, slightly fewer than the 90 released in 2024. The Fund supported films and audiovisual projects with €103.7 million in 2025, including €36 million through the Film Production Incentive.

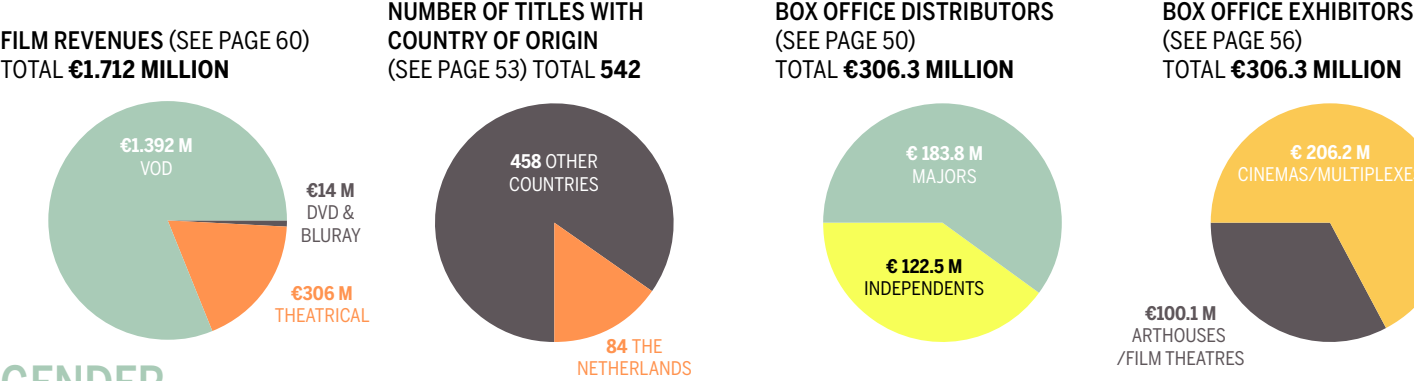

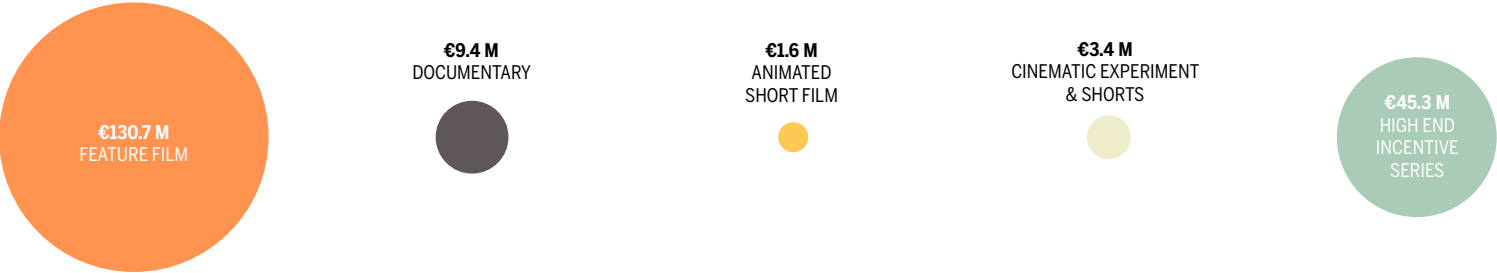

The Dutch production volume remained high. A total of 58 feature films were produced with a combined production budget of €130.7 million, while 11 high-end series were produced with a total budget of €45.3 million. Overall, the production value of Dutch films & series amounted to €190.4 million.

Total gross box office revenue declined slightly by 1% to approximately €306 million, while total film and audiovisual revenue continued to grow, driven by Video On Demand. Combined SVOD and TVOD revenue reached a record €1,392 billion, a modest increase of 0.4% compared to 2024, indicating that the rapid growth of the streaming market is beginning to stabilize. Physical home entertainment continued its long-term decline, with DVD and Blu-ray sales falling by a further 3%.

TOP 20 ADMISSIONS ALL RELEASES IN 2025

2025 marked by franchises, live-action remakes and a few local titles

Dutch cinemas enjoyed another diverse slate of movies in 2025, with A Minecraft Movie emerging as the biggest box office hit, closely followed by Disney’s live-action remake of Lilo & Stitch. Franchise titles continued to dominate the market, with sequels, prequels and established brands accounting for the vast majority of the top 20, including Jurassic World: Rebirth, Mission: Impossible – The Final Reckoning and Avatar: Fire and Ash. Family films remained a key driver of admissions, while live-action adaptations of animated modern classics, such as Lilo & Stitch and How to Train Your Dragon, proved especially popular. Unlike previous years, the top 20 also featured a broader mix of adult-oriented successes, from Bridget Jones: Mad About the Boy and Babygirl to The Salt Path and One Battle After Another. Two Dutch productions reached the year’s top 20, matching 2024 and highlighting the continued presence of local films alongside Hollywood blockbusters.

TOP 20 ADMISSIONS FOR DUTCH FILMS IN 2025

Established local franchises dominate while adult dramas gain ground

In 2025, Dutch cinema continued to be driven by familiar brands and established franchises, particularly in the family and youth segment. Two Sinterklaas films once again ranked among the year’s biggest domestic hits, while popular children’s franchises such as Juf Braaksel, Dikkie Dik and Mees Kees maintained their strong appeal. Comedy also remained an important genre, with successful sequels including Onze Jongens 3 and De Tatta's 3, while Amsterdamed II demonstrated the enduring popularity of classic Dutch film properties. At the same time, the year’s biggest Dutch release, Voor de Meisjes, highlighted the commercial potential of original adult-oriented drama. Compared to 2024, the top 20 relied even more heavily on sequels and established intellectual properties.
